Representations being sought

Support Runaka businesses

Message from Matapura Ellison

Kia ora koutou,

Last Panui I included a notification from the University of Otago. I am having to do the same again for Dr Lyn Carter who retired last month from Te Tumu.

Lyn is one who quietly gives a lot of her time to the Runaka and represents us on the Otago Regional Council, Planning and Strategy Committee, Otago Natural History Trust, TRoNT Climate Change – to name a few.

We hope she will continue to give her time to the runaka, and I wish her all the best in her retirement.

I am also pleased to advise that selections have been made to represent us on:

- the Ngāi Tahu Research & Consultation Committee: Representative is Tāwini White
- DCC Grants Subcommittee: Representative is Adam Keane

It is great to see our younger whānau putting their hands up to be involved in committees such as these. The experience gained will provide them with a good foundation for future opportunities both within the community and the runaka.

I also encourage you to consider putting in an application for the additional Director, Puketeraki Ltd and remind you of the Runaka General Meeting of Kāti Huirapa Runaka Ki Puketeraki . This will be held on the 2nd August 2020 at Puketeraki Marae, starting at 11.00am. Bring kai to share for lunch.

Note: At 1.30pm a special meeting will be held to elect an additional Director for Puketeraki Ltd.

UNIVERSITY OF OTAGO: RETIREMENT OF PUKETERAKI WHANAU- HE POROPOROAKI KI A DR LYN CARTER

Lyn was born in Christchurch but lived a large part of her life in the North Island, first in Hastings then in Auckland. Her dad's parents emigrated from England after the First World War, and on her mother's side she has links to early Scottish settlers – her great-grandparents had a boat building business at the bottom of Wharf Street in Dunedin.

Her Kāi Tahu connections (Kāti Huirapa, Kāti Hawea, Kāti Ruahikihiki, with connections to Te Whānau a Apanui through the Stirling whānau) also come through her mother and grandmother through the Wybrow whānau. In 2011 Lyn joined Te Tumu. She says, "I have worked with some really good and dedicated people here". She is an active staff member, whose teaching and leadership has mainly been within the Indigenous Development programme. She has also formed excellent links with colleagues from other academic units, such as Geography and the Centre for Sustainability.

Coming to Otago allowed Lyn to engage more fully with her local Kāi Tahu connections. While she was in Auckland she helped found (with Hirini Matunga and Kepa Morgan) the taura here group, Kai Tahu ki Tamaki Makaurau. She already owned a crib at Warrington, so also used to attend various things at Puketeraki Marae at Karitāne. When she eventually moved down here to the University of Otago she was already involved to some extent with the marae – that spread to being on various committees and becoming very much part of the day-to-day life. She says "When I had my stroke, I lived in our kaumatua house next door to the Runaka offices and that was amazing – such great support and whanaukataka from just living that close. I used to say that living away one could still participate, and yes you can, but I now realise that it is not the same as being in the landscape and rejoining with the whenua."

Motorbike trips feature heavily in Lyn and her partner John's retirement plans. This includes "extended touring around Te Waipoumanu and Aotearoa and visits with the mokos", although she "may be delayed from going to London for a bit yet to see my son and whānau". Lyn still has some work for Kāti Huirapa that she is continuing on with, but she says, "I pretty much hope to do ABSOLUTELY NOTHING for a little while".

EVENTS

TĒNĀ RĀ KOUTOU KATOA

KĀ MIHI MAIOHA NUI O TĒNEI WĀ WHANOKĒ I TE MATE KORONA.

In Ōtepoti Dunedin we usually celebrate the Māori New Year through a diverse citywide programme of community events – the Dunedin Puaka Matariki Festival. In a normal year, communities will gather to celebrate the season at shared feasts, fun and educational programmes, and through a wide range of Mātauraka Māori and Toi Māori events.

But this is not a normal year...

Keeping our hāpori, especially our kaumātua and very young, safe from COVID-19 is our number one priority. For this reason, the PMF Steering Roopū have decided the rāhui will extend to the Festival.

This year, the Dunedin Puaka Matariki Festival will not be delivered kanohi ki te kanohi. Instead, knowledge will be shared and our community will come together virtually, through our website and other online and broadcast media.

This year, the Dunedin Puaka Matariki Festival will be celebrated online from Monday 13 July to Monday 20 July.

(This differs from recently published dates and follows tohunga kōkōurangi Rangī Matamua's maramataka of the tika lunar phase to celebrate the rising of the Matariki star cluster.)

How can you participate? Through our website, we would like to share a brief Seasonal Greeting to everyone in our takiwā from your whānau, rōpū, kapa, komiti, kura... I will send through through tech specs and a deadline for email submissions soon. Meanwhile, get your kāhui together and figure out what you want to say and where you're going to film it.

Please share the news about the Festival's change of dates and format with everyone you think would like to know.

Me toro ki ētahi atu, ā, noho ora mai rā ki a tātou.

Nāku iti noa, nā

SUPPORT YOUR RUNAKA BY PROMOTING OUR PRODUCTS

One of the businesses we operate is the extraction of Taramea oils, marketed as MEA. In the current economic climate sales have all but stopped. If you are thinking of a gift, have you considered MEA

Traditionally Taramea leaves were gathered, plaited and the base of each plait was singed over embers until the heat forced the gum to the top, where it was collected. The gum was then mixed with animal fat, such as refined pigeon or muttonbird oil.

Fragrant sachets took their names from the materials composing them. For example, hei raukawa, hei pipiriri, hei tawhiri, hei mapuna, hei mokimoki, kati taramea, pona tarata, etc.

Perfumed oil produced in this way was highly valued and was used for barter for food and greenstone, and as koha between rangatira.

After more than three years of research, Kati Huirapa Runanga and TRONT have developed three fragrances from Taramea that we are taking into the retail market to test response from customers. This is a pilot project and depending on it's success we aim to develop a sustainable business to reinvigorate and share the Ngāi Tahu cultural practice of perfume-making with the world while retaining cultural authenticity for Ngāi Tahu.

The four fragrances - Taramea & Wood, Taramea & Water and Taramea & Herb and Dark Skies are available for purchase at the price of $39.00 per bottle (or $156 for the set), from the Runaka Office in Karitane. Please call the office at 03 465 7300 for more information or call into the office to try them.

Emergency Management Otago would like to thank the many organisations and individuals who have partnered with us to support those most in need in our region. In particular, we would like to acknowledge the efforts of Volunteering Otago and Volunteering Central who have coordinated volunteers for the duration of our response. These volunteers have given weeks of their own time to support others in their communities. Over the past 4 months we have received over 25,000 requests for help, the contribution volunteers have made has enabled us to provide support to over 7,500 people.

For many, the impacts of COVID-19 continue to be felt and the demands made on community organisations for assistance will continue. The Ministry of Social Development continues to offer support to foodbanks and community food organisations and we would encourage you to find out whether your organisation is eligible.

Once again, our thanks go out to all who have supported us. Despite the challenges COVID-19 has thrown our way, we go forward as a stronger, more connected community.

WELCOME TO NEW STAFF MEMBERS

SHARON PARATA AND SHAUNAE COOMBES

Joining the team at the Marae and in the office are Sharon and Shaunae. They will be keeping things clean and making sure the methods and products used will both clean and disinfect.

After each group who have used the Marae, Sharon will be cleaning and disinfecting, so it is all ready for the next group. She has undertaken a “deep clean” so that we can be confident that we are ready to open the Marae.

With the retirement of Lois Taylor, Shaunae will take over the weekly clean of the Runaka Office and Te Taumata.

OUR THANKS GOES OUT TO LOIS FOR ALL HER HARD AND DEDICATED WORK OVER THE YEARS TO KEEP THINGS FUNCTIONING, CLEAN AND TIDY. WE WISH HER ALL THE BEST.
